

PHASES OF EXISTENCE

Creation-preservation-destruction, waning and waxing, movements of celestial bodies, and the spiralling repetitions are the ever continuing transformations in the Cosmos. The creative energy, of which we are an intricate part, has a self-perpetuating quality, and this means that it never ceases to exist, it is ever renewing itself, and it demonstrates new, creative aspects all the time. Starting from the Source of the First Movement, the fabric of the Universe moves circumferentially in the phase and anti-phase motion similarly to a sinusoid wave, which has an 'upper' and 'lower' trough. To think, however, of the movement of universal fabric as a single sinusoid wave, would be an epitome of simplification, because this movement consists of untold numbers of different energy waves varying in quality and size; it consists of tessellation of waves, of merging and cancellation of waves, and of myriads of their combinations, impact of which permeates all dimensions of the Cosmos.

One of the basic energy types is the energy of Consciousness. This energy and its various complex forms provide the intelligent expressions of itself (such as human beings) with the awareness and a concept of existence. Various combinations of the Consciousness energy provide us with the ability to think (utilise the mind energies), feel and intuit. Human beings are endowed with the five senses, but the cosmic Consciousness energy radiations encompass more other types of awareness, not only those we understand as extra-sensory, such as intuition or memory. In our phase of existence it is difficult to imagine and impossible to know any other forms of Consciousness energy we have not been designed to intercept and interpret.

Metaphysical eye

The complexity of the living Universe cannot be fathomed with the 'physical eye'. Our mental concepts of the universal existence, stemming from the physical experiences of our personal lives, are limited to what we are allowed to see with our eyes, hear with our ears, what we are allowed to smell, taste, touch, and what can be processed by our brain and intercepted by the nervous system distributed throughout our entire physical body. Even to begin to understand the complexity of universal energies, one has to develop a 'metaphysical eye', that is, one has to open his or her perception to much more subtle energies than those ruling in our ordinary lives. All senses, the perception apparatus human species are endowed with, are designed to intercept certain narrow bands of selected energies we are surrounded with. All other bands of these selected energies and the entire different energy strands are not known to human beings, because we have not been endowed with the instruments of perception of these other energy types.

We need to understand that what we see with our eyes is only a tiny narrow band of an infinite spectrum of light to see. We live in a world of form, not because the Universe necessarily has to have a form. We live in a world of form because at our level of being the existence of form is indispensable for our comprehension of reality. At higher levels of universal expression a form is not necessary, because the higher the cosmic intelligence is, the easier it is to comprehend cosmic processes and the so called 'mind of God' without resorting to a form or a 'story'. In these regions of being one understands cosmic laws directly and intimately; one becomes better unified with God's expressions—all because of the closer proximity to the First Source of cosmic movement.

The physical eye sees form, a metaphysical eye 'sees' or knows energy at rest or movement. Fabric of the universe is energy in its multifarious qualities and phases. Intelligence, awareness, understanding, feeling, thinking—all are part of the original Source energy of Consciousness, which is unfolding in different universal expressions.

God's design

Human beings exist as expressions of God's Consciousness at its transition level between the lower form of existence, i.e. rooted in the animal kingdom, and a higher form, which is a unified collective consciousness. When informed about the direction of evolution we can make a choice to become active participants in this process or fall out as not suitable or mature enough to take part in the further progression. The human level of existence is particularly important in the Cosmic scale of evolution, because it is the first level of existence in the living matter, where the conditions are right (comprehension tools are present in the species) for the developing consciousness to recognise the existence of the Deity, to understand the process of Divinisation of the Universe, and to become aligned with God's will and God's design of the Cosmos.

At a certain level of understanding, God's design of the Cosmos can even be said to be easy to comprehend. Powerful creative energies that come from the First Source are self-perpetuating in the creations that issue forth. Their property of all encompassing radiating attraction, cause the conscious creations to return to the First Source to further enhance its power. This powerful attraction generated by the First Source is known to us as Divine Love. The other powerful energy issuing from the First Source is Divine Light or Wisdom, which enables this process of returning to the Deity to be an intelligent and purposeful one.

Transformations of existence

When a phase and anti-phase of a lower spiral of conscious existence merge, then a new entity becomes a part of the next level of existence, starting a higher cycle spiral (or level of existence), repeating the process of merging phase with anti-phase to go further and further.

A human level of understanding can reach a point of allowing for a conscious participation in the process of conquering of the state of duality and in the integration of both phases: positive and negative ('upper' and 'lower' aspects of manifestation) thoughts and emotions. In other words, a human being is capable of integrating the upper and the lower troughs of conscious human existence, and once finding oneself in a post-integration node, the person can start a progression toward the next, higher level of conscious existence.

The successful merging of a phase and anti-phase of consciousness by the conscious beings in the lower level of existence, results in a quantum leap of their consciousness to a level not comprehended before, a level of which perhaps some glimpses were only given prior to the full integration. This quantum leap in consciousness to a higher energy level is achieved when a critical mass of desired intellectual, emotional and spiritual integrations has been reached and the process can proceed spontaneously to the end of the scale. In religious terms: following a concerted effort of a person, God's Grace enables the process to reach conclusion through a quantum leap of consciousness to a new level of being and understanding. Then a new phase of existence commences for that person.

After reaching a point of detachment from the lower level of human existence, a person adopts a position of an observer of human affairs and is not actually involved in the dramas of human existence. Such person has a vantage point of the knower of reasons for, and destiny, of lives of his or her younger brothers and sisters.

Our cosmic adventure is an adventure in the evolution of Consciousness. This quest never ends and it is the best news for us from our Creator. There is always a higher level of understanding and a higher level of being we can work towards.
